HIT BY AUTO SEEKS $15,000

MRS. FLORA L. SALEE SUES RICHARD NELSON, GUILFORD.

OCCURRED ON HIGHWAY

Woman's Hip Dislocated and She Receives Other Injuries in Accident Tuesday Night.

A $15,000 damage suit was filed today by Mrs. Flora L. Salee against Richard Nelson of Guilford as a result of an accident which occurred on the paved highway south of Maryville on Tuesday evening.

The accident happened south of the Hukill corner, about eight miles south of Maryville on the highway, when Nelson's car struck Mrs. Salee as she was walking on the road. Mrs. Salee's hip was dislocated and she received several bruises and other injuries.

According to the story told by the Salee family, Mrs. Salee, accompanied by her daughter, Ethel, 18 years old, and her son, Clarence, 8 years old, were walking on the highway to their home near the Salem Church at the time of the accident. The family had been to Maryville that afternoon, the husband, William Salee and 14-year-old son having gone from here to near Clearmont, where the family were going to move. Mrs. Salee and her daughter and son were able to get a ride as far as the Scudder school house and from that place on had to walk.

After the accident, Mrs. Salee was taken to her home, but late yesterday she was taken to St. Francis hospital in this city, when the husband returned home with a truck for the purpose of moving the household goods. He discovered the condition of his wife and efforts were made at once to get Mrs. Salee in the hospital.

The Salee family has been in destitute circumstances, according to members of the welfare board here. Mr. Salee today accepted a job with Glover & Alexander of this city and the family are preparing to move to Maryville.

The petition in the suit states that the defendant, Richard Nelson, was driving in a careless manner and at a "high and excessive" rate of speed.

Mr. Nelson is a prominent farmer living near Guilford.

Mr. Caywood alleged that the late Mr. Spuhler took a note for $625 on August 18, 1919 from the two defendants on which the greater part is due.

Ashford and Paxton Started for Prison

Z. O. Ashford and Harry Paxton, both of the Guilford vicinity, were taken to Jefferson City today to start their terms of three and two years respectively in the state penitentiary.

They were taken by automobile by Sheriff L. B. Campbell, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. G. P. Wright. The party left at 6 o'clock.

Ashford was sentenced after he admitted stealing a hog from the Maurice Egan farm, and Paxton admitted stealing flour from the Farmers Exchange at Guilford.

FARM KITCHEN IS DISCUSSED

UNIVERSITY WORKER HOLDS MEET HERE THIS AFTERNOON.

"STORAGE" IS SUBJECT

"Real Purpose Is To Make Women Better Home and Community Makers," Says Miss Bina Slaughter.

"It is not merely to make kitchens more attractive that we urge these kitchen improvements or other home improvements," said Miss Bina Slaughter of the University of Missouri who was in Maryville talking to Nodaway County women at the county agricultural agent's office this afternoon.

"The real purpose is to give women an opportunity to arrange their work so that they may be more satisfactory home makers and may take more interest in community life," Miss Slaughter explained.

Some times it is even necessary to arouse the desire for more conveniences.

"We want to increase the efficiency of every home. Many times the method a woman is using for a particular task is more efficient than one we have to offer. Of course if a woman wants to make her home more efficient she must check over the things she is using and see if something different would be helpful."

Among the projects to be stressed this year will be home water systems, Miss Slaughter said. Demonstrations of water systems will be given. Other phases of work to be emphasized will be heights for kitchen equipment, high stools, kitchen storage, kitchen demonstrations and yard improvements.

Kitchen storage was the subject of the discussion this afternoon.

Fifty women were asked to attend the meeting today and they in turn will give a demonstration in their communities.

Another similar meeting will be held in six weeks when closets will be discussed.

The care of recipes was discussed today, along with suggestion for the care of papers of all kinds from newspapers to valuable documents.

Miss Slaughter gave three reasons for the storage of papers. One, it saves time and energy in looking for papers to know where they are; two, it keeps valuable papers sound and accessible; three, it saves time and energy in general cleaning by the elimination of unsightly piles of papers and magazines.

Inexpensive medicine cabinets also were displayed.

Two Dentists Leave for Chicago Meeting

Dr. Jesse Miller of Maryville and his brother, Dr. E. A. Miller of Hopkins, left Tuesday noon for Chicago to attend the convention of the National Dental society. During the convention a clinic will be held. They are expected to return home Saturday.

The dispatch from Chicago tells one of the dentists' problems:

Do your false teeth match your hair and eyes?

It is part of the dentist's job to harmonize the appearance of artificial molars with eyes, hair and complexion, Dr. John B. LaDue of Chicago told the Chicago Dental Society today at its convention.

One young woman who had lost her teeth asked for an artificial set, Dr. LaDue explained, and when she came to him she used no aids to beauty. When she returned, her face treated with cosmetics, she complained the teeth "looked punk."

So now she has two sets, for he made her another to harmonize with her artificial makeup.

New Plates on Sale Tuesday, Not Before.—Prices for Various Cars Given.

Motorists who obtain their state automobile licenses for 1927 at the offices of the Maryville Chamber of Commerce also will have "insurance" against loss, under an announcement made today by D. A. Caldwell, secretary.

The Chamber of Commerce this year, in addition to saving motorists time and trouble in getting their plates, will undertake to return all lost and found plates.

Last year car owners who lost their tags paid $14 for new ones ordered through the local organization. This year, by referring to the records in the office here, and tags found by other motorists and brought to the office will be returned if possible.

There will be less losing of plates this year, Mr. Caldwell believes, because the new ones are heavier. He urges, however, that they be securely bolted and not merely attached with wire.

The new licenses go on sale at the Chamber of Commerce rooms next Tuesday morning, February 1. They will not be given out until that time.

Licenses for the various types of cars cost as follows:

HARVESTERS OF ICE CALL IT BEST EVER

Natural "Crop," Now Being Cut, Is Foot Thick and 3,000 Tons May Be Stored.

"The best ice I have ever harvested," was the statement today of Ernest Glover of the firm of Glover & Alexander, in commenting on the 1927 crop.

This firm is the only one in the city which harvests natural ice on a commercial scale and already has stored approximately one thousand tons in its ice house up town.

Mr. Glover said that the ice ranges from eleven to twelve inches thick and is the best quality that has ever gone into the plant.

The company has been cutting ice from the city reservoir, east of the city, for about a week. It will require from ten days to two weeks to complete the harvest, Mr. Glover said, depending upon the weather, which has been favorable this week for the work.

The firm expects to put up from two to three thousand tons of ice this year.

Considerable time is required to harvest the natural ice here, as it has to be hauled from the pumping station, more than a mile east of Maryville, to the ice house in Maryville.

This bill was drawn up by the association after an exhaustive study of state administrations.

Would Legalize Boxing.

Jefferson City, Jan. 27.—A bill to legalize boxing in Missouri was introduced in the House of representatives this afternoon by Manville H. Davis, Kansas City.

The bill, which is sponsored by the American Legion, would permit ten-round, no decision boxing contests under the direction of clubs and fraternal organizations which have been in existence one year prior to their application for a state license.

The law would be administered by three commissioners, two appointed by the governor and a third, the athletic director of the University of Missouri, who would be ex-officio chairman.

Permanent Registration Asked.

Jefferson City, Jan. 27.—A bill providing a system of permanent registration for Kansas City was introduced in the senate today by Senator James S. Summers, Jackson county.

Under the terms of this bill the intermediate and general registrations provided by the present election laws would be eliminated and voters could place their names on the registration books at any time throughout the year.

Representative William Job of Nodaway County offered by request a concurrent resolution to submit a constitutional amendment to increase the number of judges of the supreme court from seven to nine, with three divisions in the court.

The proposal also increases the court of appeals from three to four, with three judges in each court. The supreme and appelate judges would be elected for twelve-year terms and their salaries fixed by the legislature under the Job proposal.

POLITICS BUT NO TAX CUT

SENATE DEMOCRATS GET AN ISSUE BUT NO REDUCTION.

REED LAUNCHES FIGHT

Missouri Senator Introduces Coolidge's Own Proposal but It Goes Out On Point of Order.

Washington, Jan. 27. — Vice-President Dawes ruled out of the Senate today the Democratic amendment to the deficiency appropriation bill for a 10 per cent tax reduction this year.

Dawes said the proposal made by Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri, could not be considered under the regulations of the Senate.

Reed immediately appealed from Dawes' decision in hopes of inducing the Senate to overrule the Vice-President. Reed later, however, withdrew his appeal and accepted defeat without a record vote.

Washington, Jan. 27. — Democrats made a last stand for tax reduction in the Senate today but it appeared that all they would get out of it was a political issue.

The movement was inaugurated by Senator James A. Reed, Democrat, Missouri, who proposed a 10 per cent rebate on payments of all income taxes to be made March 15. He offered it as a rider to the pending deficiency appropriation bill.

A point of order against the amendment was made by Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, who charged that it could not even be considered under the rules of the Senate.

Reed's action was taken after a conference of Democratic leaders of both Houses, and Lenroot's point was raised after consultation of Republican leaders, thus drawing the issue on strict party lines.

Proposes Coolidge Plan.

In making his move for tax reduction, Senator Reed abandoned the original program to offer the plan drafted by house Democrats and introduced the proposition advanced by the President in his message to congress last December.

Recalling that the President once had said the retention by the government of funds gathered by taxes beyond the requirements of government was "legalized lareeny," the Missourian accused the President of backing away from his "promise to the people that he would give tax reduction."

"Let the administration demand tax reduction," he thundered. "The President himself has failed to make any real effort to relieve the excessive burden of the people."

Presenting for the record the Democratic house petition to instruct the house ways and means committee to report the Democratic tax bill, Senator Reed said the minority in both houses had stood ready from the first of the session to vote for tax reduction, but had been thwarted by the Republican majority.

Democrats Win Clash.

Before Senator Reed offered his amendment, the Democrats, aided by Senator Couzens of Michigan, Republican, won a fight to change methods in the treasury of approving tax refund claims.

Under an amendment to the bill by Senator McKellar of Tennessee all future refunds in excess of $50,000 must have the approval of the comptroller general before payments are made. Under existing procedure claims are approved by the internal revenue bureau.

McKellar first sought to have the review by the court of tax appeals, but two amendments for that purpose were rejected on points of order which were sustained by Vice-President Dawes that they embraced general legislation.

In debate of these amendments Senator Couzens, who was chairman of the special committee which investigated internal revenue bureau methods two years ago, renewed his attacks against that bureau. He declared that "fraud, dishonesty and crookedness" were complements of the existing "ex-parte system" of tax refunding.

Mrs .Alva Hunt, Harmony; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Galbreath, Bolckow; Stanley and Blondie Neal, Barnard; Donald Walts, Parnell; C. F. Sisson, Parnell; and Mrs. Vern Jeffers and Miss Ruth Hopple, Hopkins, were Maryville visitors today.

Rep. Madden Predicts 1928 Tax Reduction

Cut of $350,000,000 at Next Session Is Considered Possible By Illinoisan.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Tax reduction at the next session of Congress was predicted by Representative Madden, Republican, Illinois, chairman of the house appropriations committee after a recent conference with President Coolidge.

Madden believes a reduction of about $350,000,000 is possible in 1928. The Democratic petition to force action on the minority party's tax reduction plan in the house has not received sufficient signatures.

SPEAKER AND COBB CLEARED

LANDIS EXONERATES TWO BASEBALL HEROES.

NAMES ARE RESTORED

Releases By Cleveland And Detroit Clubs Are Cancelled, High Commissioner Announces.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—The names of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, engraved forever in baseball's hall of fame, were cleared today of the mud of scandal, in an official "whitewashing" by Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis.

Landis issued a statement finding Cobb and Speaker not guilty.

"These players have not been, nor are they now, found guilty of fixing a ball game," Landis said.

"By no decent system of justice could such findings be made. Therefore they are not placed on the ineligible list.

"As they desire to rescind their withdrawl from baseball, the releases which the Detroit and Cleveland clubs granted at their request are cancelled and the players' names are restored to the reserve lists of those clubs."

Johnson "Not Interested."

Excelsior Springs, Jan. 27.—News of the coneration of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker by the high commissioner of baseball was received disinterestedly by Ban Johnson, deposed head of the American Lague, who took sharp issue with Landis over charges against the two stars.

"I have nothing to say," Johnson said flatly when asked for comment on the official action.

Johnson is too ill to think or talk about the controversy, his physician said.

School Bus Smashed by Train; Two Dead

Girl, 17, and Three Children Critically Injured in Oklahoma Grade Crossing Crash.

Tulsa, Okla, Jan. 27.—Two men are dead, a girl critically injured, and three school children critically injured for a grade crossing crash here this morning when a Missouri-Kansas-Texas passenger train demolished a school bus. The dead, both bus drivers, are Russell L. Schwartz, 30, who was driving the bus and C. D. Hartzell, 21, relief driver.

The girl, Mrs. Ruby Beaver, 17, was carried 270 yards on the pilot of the locomotive. Her condition is critical but physicians hope to be able to save her life. Three of the children were so seriously injured hospital attendants held little hope for their recovery. Two others were less dangerously injured.

Ricciotti Garibaldi, Italian Expelled From France, Must Give Purpose of Visit Here.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Colonel Ricciotti Garibaldi, Italian expelled from France for alleged complicity in Fascist plots, will be allowed to enter the United States only on proof that he has no propoganda purposes here.

The American consul general at Paris, who asked instructions regarding granting Garibaldi an American visa, has been instructed to investigate first whether the colonel desires to make a bona fide visit.

WANT U. S. TO CALL PARLEY

LEAGUE MAY ASK AMERICA TO TAKE LEAD IN CHINA.

WARNING BY KELLOGG

Statement, as Forecast Yesterday, Tells Far East Nation It Must Stabilize Government.

Geneva, Jan. 27.—Unofficial consideration was being given today to the possibility that the United States might be requested to summon another international conference to discuss China and her troubles.

League officials believed that successful league intervention in China would be impossible without the collaboration of the United States.

The suggestion that the United States call a conference of the nine powers which participated in the previous parley at Washington would request that the conference be under the auspices of the League, although called by the United States. By enabling the United States to summon the conference, league officials said recognition would have been given to the accomplishments of the first Washington conference.

Statement Warns China.

Washington, Jan. 27—China was warned today by the United States to agree on a stable government able to protect American lives and interests.

This is a prior condition to negotiation of new equal treaties and abrogation of extra-territorial privileges under which the United States maintains courts and troops in China, according to a statement by Secretary of State Kellogg today.

The statement's contents were fully summarized by an exclusive United Press dispatch yesterday in advance of presentation to the press.

Borah Against Force.

Washington, Jan. 27.—The only thing which may keep China from protecting lives and property is the dispatch of fleets and armies there, Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, declared in a statement today, sympathizing with China in "her greatest struggle."

Hornsby Is Sued for $70,075 Alleged Debts

Eleven Items Are Listed; Only One Specifically Named as Gambling Debt Is for $4,930.

St. Louis, Jan. 27.—Suit for $70,075, was filed here today against Rogers Hornsby, former manager of the world's championship Cardinal baseball team by Frank L. Moore, Kentucky betting commissioner.

Eleven separate items, ranging from $850 to $18,000 were listed by Moore. He alleges the sums were advanced to Hornsby on various occasions as personal loans.

Only one of the items listed by Moore is specifically named as a gambling debt. It is a demand for $4,930, said to have been paid to Phil McGuire, a New York betting commissioner, to cover losses incurred by Hornsby.

Dry Agents Warned Against Lawbreaking

Prohibition Forces Themselves Must Not Transgress to Catch Other Violators, Says Mellon.

Washington, Jan. 27.—Lawbreaking by the government to catch lawbreakers must cease, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon today worned all prohibition administrators and agents.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Watkins were when he learned of such activities of prohibition agents as the authorization of the Bridge Whist Club in New York, where liquor was sold in order to trap bootleggers and rum runners.

At first he did not believe the charges true, Mellon said. Investigation, however, proved such activities were widespread in prohibition work.

"It has never been the policy of the government to do anything illegal to apprehend illicit persons," Mellon emphasized, adding that some prohibition agents had been discharged for such over-zealousness.

More than $4,100 in cash changed hands yesterday when Shorthorn cattle, eligible to register, and other personal property were sold at forced sale at the W. F. Barber farm sale pavilion, west of Skidmore.

Prices for which the cattle sold indicated cattle were drawing higher prices, as the first five put on the block went for more than a hundred dollars each.

Sixty-four Shorthorns and grade livestock sold for an average of $80. About the lowest price on cows with calves at side was $60, according to S. E. Evans, clerk of the sale, cried by R. P. Hosmer.

The highest price for the Shorthorns was $132.50.

The property was owned by W. F. and F. C. Barber, and the defunct Northwestern Bank of Burlington Junction held chattel mortgages.

The hogs brought especially pleasing prices. Forty-three head of Hampshire pigs, averaging twenty pounds, were sold for an average of $5.50 each and the sows brought $29 each.

A good attendance was reported.

Crew of Marooned Tug Are Rescued

Michigan City, Ind., Jan. 27.—Three members of the tug Imperial, who have been held prisoners for more than twenty-four hours by an ice jam, were rescued early today when the tug Jersey crushed through the ice floes to the marooned ship.

While the ship was not salvaged, the three men were removed and taken aboard the Jersey. Although suffering somewhat from exposure they were not in a dangerous condition.

BARBS

Edward Browning and "Peaches" it is said may settle their differences out of court. What with the Chaplins, Mexico, Ban Johnson and Mr. Landis usurping the front page, they might as well call it off.

KAISER IS 68; HEALTH POOR

FORMER GERMAN RULER HAS NINTH BIRTHDAY IN EXILE.

AN ATTEMPT AT POMP

Wilhelm Maintains Royal Dignity in Receiving Followers.—Illness Lowers Vitality.

By FREDERICK KUH.

(United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Berlin, Jan. 27.—Ex-Kaiser Wilhelm is celebrating his sixty-eighth birthday today in the luxuriant exile of Doorn, Holland. This is the ninth birthday which he has observed in banishment.

In vivid contrast to the frenzied nation-wide jubilance which used to accompany the kaiser's birthday during his reign, today's affair is a modest event. But the former emperor has not yet become reconciled to his degradation from monach to private citizen, and an effort was made to inject a bit of the pomp and ceremony of bygone days into his birthday party.

Early in the morning, the gardner of Castle Doorn hoisted the ex-kaiser's banner and Reuss standard as the ex-emperor's wife, Hermine, was formerly princess Reuss.

Receives Congratulations.

Members of the German Fatherland unions and other monarchists tendered their congratulations in person. Instead of being ushered into his presence, these visitors awaited the ex-kaiser in the garden, where Wilhelm approached them and accepted their humble messages of devotion.

Divine services were held this morning in the dining room of Castle Doorn. The court chaplain, Pastor Richter of Potsdam led the services.

Dinner was served at 1 o'clock and included wines worthy of the old imperial cellar.

Afterwards, the master of Castle Doorn examined the huge bundles of mail, comprised mainly of congratulatory letters and telegrams from loyal monarchist followers.

In the Potsdam Peace church in Berlin another court chaplain, Pastor Vogel, preached before a gathering of stern royalists. His sermon ended with the prayer, "God bless our king and emperor. . ."

Ex-officers' clubs, groups of nobles and fatherlandish societies held closed birthday celebrations in Wilhelm's honor.

An Old Man Now.

The ex-Kaiser is an old man. His hair is gray and his former assertive moustache now droops into is full gray beard. But his dominant spirit has not greatly changed. He still moves quickly, talks loudly, gesticulates extravagantly, and rules his humble household with his old imperial manner. But that household has so dwindled that Wilhelm, with all his blustering, becomes more and more a pathetic fugire as the years gather.

During the past few months, Wilhelm's health has shown serious signs of failing. The old rugged constitution is now subject to slight complaints that threaten most any day to become serious. He has had two attacks of grippe, with fever, and although he has recovered, his resistence remains less strong and those about him often have reason to be anxious about his condition.

Slacks Up On Wood Chopping.

Wilhelm no longer goes in very much for wood chopping. His wife says that he has chopped down about all the trees on the estate that can be spared, but others believe that the exercise is now too strenuous for him. He delights, however, in puttering about the garden and spends hours trimming hedges and arranging plants. This work he undertakes immediately after his morning "council" with his court marshal, County von Finkenstein, and the assistant marshal, Count von Schmettow. Then his official household turns to "state affairs," while the former emperor follows his little whims in his dull life.

At all times Wilhelm maintains his royal dignity and his followers treat him as though no change had come in his fortunes. They stand at attention in his presence, bow to his commands, and awalys address him as "Your Majesty." Whatever may be his dreams or regaining power, he persists in acting the part.

The immediate ambition of the ex-Kaiser as he comes into his sixty-eighth year is to return to the Fatherland. He hopes this may be accomplished within the next few months and often becomes impatient and irritable because his loyal subjects in Germany who are working for his interests under cover advise him to abide his time and not disrupt the plans by too hasty action. He is not a happy man now, and he wants to spend his remaining years at home.

Five of Peaches' Boy Friends as Witnesses

Browning Would Prove That Wife's Pre-Marital activities Unusual for 15-Year-Old.

New York, Jan. 27.—Counsel for Edward West Browning, semi-professional litigant, announced seriously today that five former "boy friends" of "Peaches" Heenan Browning would be called as witnesses next week when the trial of the Browning separation suit resumes at White Plains.

Browning's attorneys had hinted their intention of trying to prove that "Peaches'" pre-marital activities were unusual for a 15-year-old girl.

Henry Epstein, counsel for the young wife, did some announcing on his own account today. He said he hoped to call a "surprise" witness, an alienist, to testify as to the type of Browning and his characteristics.

"Katy Flyer" Fireman Tells Interesting Experience

Long hours and hard work in all weathers told on Mr. Bohon. Nervous indigestion almost wrecked his health. Now hale and husky. Gives Tanlac full credit

"I had an uphill pull to regain my health," said Mr. Enoch Bohon, 520 E. 11th St., Sedalia, Mo. "Like all road men, I eat at irregular hours and I'm under a nervous strain all the time.

"First, my stomach went out of order. I had no appetite and what little I forced myself to eat caused acute discomfort. Then my nerves got jumpy and I was irritable most of the time, had spells of depression and a feeling of being all in. Matters went from bad to worse, though I tried many medicines. Natural restful sleep was out of the question; I was too nervous and jumpy. That lasted a whole year.

"The first improvement came soon after I started on Tanlac. My appetite picked up and I began to enjoy restful sleep again. My digestion improved, too, so that I could eat anything I cared for and suffer no distress afterwards. In a short time I was as well and sound as ever in my life, and today I feel, eat and sleep normally. I've told many of my friends what Tanlac did for me and always recommend it with confidence."

If your health is shattered, you can profit from Mr. Bohon's experience. Over a hundred thousand letters are on file from all states in the Union, written by grateful friends whom Tanlac has helped. Over 52,000,000 bottles have been sold. Your druggist has Tanlac. Get a bottle today and let it help you as it has countless others.

First Harbingers of Spring Are Here; Seed Catalogues Have Come!

The first harbingers of spring have arrived.

They are not the robins, prematurely on the job, or early crocus peeping through the snow. Neither are they the first of the motor tourists braving snowdrifts and melting ice.

These harbingers come through the mail. They're the first seed catalogs of 1927!

Gay with pictures of giant sweet peas, pansies that measure several inches across, and ponderoso tomatoes that weight down scales, they are arriving every day, most welcome visitors in the mail delivery.

These catalogs have brought on the pastime of indoor gardening. For this is the season of the year when vegetables and flower plots are planned, when Mother decides where she'll put her asters this summer, and Father calculates he'll have room for an extra row of that new sweet corn. The back yard is sketched and divided into neat rows and beds, and in the minds of the planners, become a bower radiant with the most colorful of blooms, even more alluring than the model gardens pictured in the catalogs.

Tell Everything.

The seed catalogs are veritable encyclopedias this year—from abronias to zinnias, in one volume. They tell everything about gardening and are storehouses of information concerning the cultivation of flowers and vegetables for almost any climate.

The color plates are, perhaps, more attractive than ever before. They are not gaudy and exaggerated but striking reproductions artistically printed. Both front and back covers of the greater number of seed books are illustrated, and in some protected by tissue sheets.

New Varieties.

Many new varieties of plants are being introduced, and in addition, there are all the old, faithful varieties. The 1927 urge seems to be toward earlier maturing produce. Earlier varieties of all sorts of vegetables are prominently advertised. This is largely due to the short gardening season which this section of the country has experienced in recent years.

Maryville, largely a city of home owners, each proud of his or her lawn and garden, is most interested in gardening. And when ice and snow cover the ground, nothing is quite so encouraging to the garden enthusiast as the 1927 seed catalog in its newest dress.

Mrs. E. A. Miller of Hopkins spent yesterday in Maryville with her daughter, Mrs. Townsend Godsey.

This and That

There's a time to part and a time to meet,
There's a time to sleep and a time to eat,
There's a time to work and a time to play,
There's a time to sing and a time to pray,
There's a time that's glad and a time that's blue,
There's a time to plan and a time to do,
There's a time to grin and to show your grit,
But there never was a time to quit.

"You can just tell them for me that I'd rather read Jerry's stuff anytime than that horrible Peaches Browning trash," says W. E. Goforth.

Mr. and Mrs. Silas M. Stanley were calling on Mr. and Mrs. William L. Mapel one evening this week. During the evening they heard a car near-by, but no one approached the house so the incident was forgotten.

When the Stanleys were ready to go home the key to their car was gone and the robes inside were much disarranged.

Mr. Stanley had to make a trip to a garage for a key.

The following day the original key was found on the running board of the car. It is thought that the car had been taken for a 'joy ride.'

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Rickenbrode have entered the Royal Order of Dial Twisters and are getting a big thrill out of the fine programs they are able to hear.

Speaking of radio fans, Theodore Robinson tuned in 72 stations between 8:30 o'clock and 1 o'clock, Saturday night. Among the "finds" were 12 West coast stations, one at New York City, three in Canada, one in Mexico, one in Cuba and several on the East coast.

Many radio fans have difficulty in tuning in New York City. One Maryville business man had Columbus at 22 and Chicago at 23 one night this week, and finally was able to bring in station WLWL, New York City, between 22 and 23.

One Maryville woman has been most unfortunate in losing pins. She is wearing her fourth P. E. O. pin.

Big Financial Deal Made at St. Joseph

Buchanan County Trust Co. Is Sold to Central States Mortgage Co. and Empire Trust Co.

St. Joseph, Jan. 27.—The largest financial transaction of the year in St. Joseph was completed yesterday with the sale of the Buchanan County Trust Company to the Central States Mortgage Company and the Empire Trust Company.

The Central States Mortgage Company purchased all real estate and real estate loans, both farm and city, held by the Buchanan County Trust Company. The Empire bank, by the purchase, acquired all individual commercial deposits and savings accounts, including Christmas clubs.

All public money and special deposits of the Buchanan County Trust Company, previously were taken over by the First National Bank.

The Central States Mortgage Company and the Empire Trust Company are not connected in any way. The former company, it was announced, will continue its mortgage loan business at its old location, 118 South Sixth street. H. C. McClary, president of the Buchanan County Trust Company, and secretary and manager of the Central States Mortgage Company, will be in charge of this office.

The consideration involved was not made public.

The negotiations completed yesterday, it was announced, have been pending for several months. On several occasions within this period the transaction was almost closed but each time something developed to delay its consummation. The purchase leaves St. Joseph with three strong trust companies: The Empire Trust, The Missouri Valley, and the First Trust Company.

All deposits in the Buchanan bank have been placed to the credit of depositors in the Empire Trust Company and all checks drawn on the Buchanan County Trust Company will be honored by the Empire Trust Company. Before the transfer was completed all accounts in the Buchanan County Trust Company were balanced and audited.

Harvey L. Haines Is Home; Glad To Be Here; Tells Latest Styles

"I wouldn't trade Maryville and Nodaway County for all of Manhattan Island," declared Harvey L. Haines who returned today from a buying trip in New York.

"The grandest thing about the trip was getting home.

"New York is prosperous all right, but it lacks the happiness and contentment that we have in Nodaway County. You can't beat this town and county I don't care where you look," Mr. Haines declared vehemently.

And speaking of styles the owner of the 'Biggest Little Store in The United States' said, "skirts will be just as short as ever. When I saw women in the hotel lobbies their skirts were so short that one doubted that they wore anything except blouses."

The sleeves are to be long in everything except very formal evening wear.

A few suits are being shown, but style mentors predict that only a few will be sold, Mr. Haines said.

The spring coats are loud and many plaids, and elaborately trimmed with fur.

Hose are all light. They are not even talking dark hose it was reported.

Shoes and hose will contrast.

The leading colors are the tan shades.

"Good old staple navy blue is coming to the front too, especially in silk dresses."

Some pastel shades will be worn, too. Lots of costume jewelry will be worn. Handbags of all descriptions are good. There is no special style.

But Mr. Haines didn't spend all of his time "shopping." No, sir, when he wasn't buying he was doing many things. Among them was dinner at the Ritz when all the women smoked, this shocked Mr. Haines.

Of all the shows he said Fred Stones with the other Stones in "Criss Cross" was the favorite. "The Captive," "O. K," "George White's Scandals," "The Rambler," "Broadway" and "Chicago," were among those he saw.

BEARCATS TO ENTER RACE

SPRINGFIELD OPENS CONFERENCE SEASON HERE FRIDAY.

TEAM WELL RESTED

New Suits to Be Displayed in Two Contests With Bears.—Conners Back On Squad.

After being conditioned in four non-conference basketball games, the State Teachers College Bearcats are now ready to start their Missouri Intercollegiate Athletic Association season. It opens tomorrow night with a game in the local gymnasium with the Southwest Missouri Teachers from Springfield. The two teams will meet again Saturday night.

The Bearcats are getting a late start in the M. I. A. A. race. Each of the other four conference teams has played at least two games, and all are pointing themselves toward victories over the Maryville quintet, present holders of the Conference title.

Results of other M. I. A. A. games this season indicate that the Springfield team will furnish worthy competition for the opening of the conference season at home. Previous scores indicate that the Bears are one of the offensive threats of the association, and local fandom is keyed up to a high pitch for the pair of offerings this week.

No College Game for Week.

The Bearcats have been idle for more than a week now. That is, they have had no games, but in that respect alone have they been idle. H. Frank Lawrence and Paul Jones, coaches, have driven their charges at a fast pace, and they pronounce the team as now ready for conference play. This has been a week of intensive scrimmage for the Bearcats, and Coach Lawrence says that his team has been steadily improving. As the greatest factor of all, they are in better condition, and the Maryville mentor predicts that his five is physically able to stand the most grueling of tussles.

The games this week will start at 8 o'clock. John W. Bunn, of the University of Kansas athletic department, will referee both of the Springfield games. This is good news to Maryville fans, for John Bunn is beloved here as an official. The games this week, however, will be the only contests in Maryville to be officiated by the Kansan. His duties with his school are heavier this year, and he could find time for but one journey to this town.

The Bearcats will make their first appearance in their new uniforms tomorrow night. These uniforms were issued to the squad before practice yesterday. The Bearcats have two sets of playing jerseys, one to be used at home and one for the road. They will play in white jerseys in all home games, by a conference ruling.

New Warm-Up Suits.

The warm-up suits this year are unique. They are of black, trimmed in green and white, the College colors, and are of a style never before used here. The shirts have large collars with "zippers" which, when closed, form a cowl.

Coach Lawrence has indicated that he will start the game with about his usual line-up. Hedges and Ungles will be at forwards, Burks at center, and Captain Joy and Berst at guards. Ferguson, substitute guard, will likely get into both games, and several other men on the squad who have been showing up well in practice will doubtless be used.

The squad has a new member now. Jack Conners of Maitland, who got into scholastic difficulties at the beginning of the season, is now back in uniform. He has been working with the team since last Saturday, and it is possible that Lawrence will see fit to use him in one or both of the games this week.

The Springfield team has played one non-conference game this week, losing to the Pittsburg, Kan., Teachers, 23 to 35. A clever offense on the part of the Kansans, coupled with an uncanny ability to sink shots from all angles, baffled the Bears.

Bear Forwards Lead.

The Maryville team will be going up against the two goal shooters who are leading the association in scoring. Fox and Stark, the Springfield forwards, have scored thirty-two and twenty-nine points respectively in the two games which the Bears have played in the M. I. A. A. In addition, the Bearcats will have to watch Tom Dodd, Springfield guard, who is also an offensive threat.

Following is a list of the scorers in the M. I. A. A., this season:

How Children Quickly Gain Robust Health

For weak, puny, inactive children—and especially those that have rickets, and need a sure builder that promotes the growth of teeth and bones, cod liver oil is the one medicine supreme—nothing helps like it.

But it is nasty and repulsive and evil smelling and nearly always upsets children's stomachs—so now up-to-date pharmacists advise McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets, with their wealth of vitamines.

Children love them as they do candy, because they are sugar coated and easy to take. One boy gained 11½ pounds in seven weeks, and is now healthy and happy—thousands of other children have grown strong and robust.

Sixty tablets for 60 cents at Gaugh & Evans and druggists everywhere. Try them for 30 days and if you are not happily satisfied with the test get your money back. But demand McCoy's—it pays to get the genuine.—Adv.

WHAT HAS HAPPENED BEFORE

By means of a plot engineered by James Mulholland and five aides, Ames, Chester, Fenne, Quantrill and Vercker, Robert Masterton is sentenced to Atlanta. While there, Vereker, who has been sentenced on another charge, reveals, while dying, the names of the plotters on Masterton's promise not to invoke the law but to take vengeance into his own hands. Masterton is in love with Cynthia Knowles, a rich and beautiful young woman. Her faith in him shattered, she marries Mulholland. On her wedding day she gets an anonymous note accusing her husband of the plot to railroad Masterton to jail. Masterton's grandfather dies and leaves him six million dollars. He is freed. Back in New York he gives Sadie Hicks, hungry and out of a job, a position as his private secretary. He meets Cynthia, refuses to allow her to blame herself for her lack of faith in him and tells her she is the only woman he will ever love. Fenne offers information to Masterton who goes to his room. Chester calling the next morning finds Fenne murdered. Quantrill, Ames and Chester begin to fear Masterton's vengeance. Fenne is declared a suicide and the conspirators plan to make an ally of Talbot, Masterton's valet. Ames has a talk with Talbot. Ames offers Talbot $5,000 for certain papers regarding Fenne which he thinks Masterton has in his possession. Ames finds himself face to face with Masterton on a houseboat. Ames mysteriously disappears and a detective questions Mulholland. Cynthia overhears the conversation and asks Mulholland to explain. Cynthia see Masterton and realizes that the only thing she cares about is his love for her. Masterton leaves town and gives Sadie $500 for personal expenses.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER 27

Three In Council

"No news of Masterton?" asked Quantrill removing his cigar with unsteady fingers.

"I am expecting Chester's report," said Mulholland. "Masterton was in New York two nights ago after an absence of fifteen days, and is now in retirement at Osea Island."

The two companions, both of them rather silent and despondent, in Quantrill's cosy sitting-room. They were awaiting the third member, who presently arrived.

There was a rather noticeable alteration in Chester. He was less carefully dressed, the careless air and the flow of persiflage had fallen away from him; his face was somewhat haggard, and there was a smouldering light in his eyes that caused his two partners to stare at him curiously.

"What news?" asked Mulholland.

"The police," said Chester, refusing the whiskey decanter that Quantrill pushed across to him, "have been four days dragging the river. McCall is in charge. But they've given it up. As far as I can see, they've got no data whatever to go upon. That's all the news."

"We consider, Jim and I, that the best and only thing to do at the moment is to sit tight," said Quantrill.

"Is that the best thing you can suggest?" said Chester very quietly.

"Well, then, listen to me."

"Since Masterton thinks he can play this game, I'll show him it's a game for two. And I won't be hampered as poor Ames was! A man worth ten of you." He turned upon Mulholland. "Do you think you can beat Masterton by sitting in easy chairs, talking about him? Fenne went quick; Ames is gone."

He peered at Mulholland. "You're looking fairly white. Makes you think, does it? You believed yourself safer than Ames. Well, I owe a debt to poor Ames. I'm going to get Masterton. I'm the only one who knows how it can be done, and believe me, Jim, I don't care a button what the consequences are. You two have nothing to say to it—you're on velvet."

"Stop!" exclaimed Mulholland, as Chester laid his hand on the door knob. "I won't be left in the dark like this, Ches. I must know what you're going to do—"

"You!" growled Chester. "What have you done since this business started? Nothing! What right have you."

"On the contrary," interrupted Mulholland, "I have done better work than either of you, and I can't afford to have it upset."

"Do you know that Masterton went down to Osea Island last Sunday?"

"Of course I know it," replied Mulholland.

"What is Osea, and where?" asked Quantrill.

"Osea is less than 100 miles from where we sit," said Mulholland. An island in Peconic Bay, inaccessible except by boat. Masterton bought the island a month ago, and if he were asked a reason, would probably say he took it for the wild fowl shooting. There's a single farmhouse on it. He's staying there."

"You are correct except for one thing," said Chester. "He isn't staying at the farmstead, but a small bungalow, put up last summer by the previous owner. It stands on the northeast side, overlooking a Flat, which is so shallow that even at high water it is extremely difficult to get near it. Your information is sketchy, Jim, but mine is absolute accurate. I am leaving nothing to chance."

"Masterton seems to have left nothing to chance either," said Quantrill, "since you dare not land openly on the island—for nobody here takes you for a fool—and the place is unaccessible on your own showing, what earthly good is it to you?"

"It isn't inaccessible to me, for I know every channel around Osea, better than you know Times Square," retorted Chester. "I'm a native of those parts. I shan't be stepping into a trap like poor Ames. So you'll be left in the dark whether you like it or not, Jim. You want to know where I'm going? Hunting wildefowl."

Mulholland looked at him, and seeing the determination in his eyes, nodded.

"Good hunting, Ches," he said.

Darkness had fallen. The cabin sloop Vixen slid past Greenpoint and into the bay beyond.

At the helm sat Chester alone, and in spite of his errand an infinite content filled his heart.

It was perhaps a curious situation for an actor. In town he seemed a townsman to the backbone, a creature of clubs and theaters. But he was a countryman born and bred, and whenever circumstances allowed, he shook off civilization and spent his leisure among the misty creeks and flats. The wild fowl that haunted the Long Island bays were an open book to him. The Vixen was a good sea boat. As a weekend home and a floating shooting-box, the little sloop was his most cherished possession.

Whether he succeeded or failed, it would be the Vixen's last voyage. On that, Chester had decided. Whatever the upshot, the sloop should not be left to testify against him. He had not left anything to chance, his plans were clearly thought out.

He had timed himself to arrive within reach of Osea Island by dark. And luck and wind were with him.

He was near the island now. So he dropped a small kedge anchor as he surveyed through his night glasses the flats. He pulled the dory alongside, and stepped in.

Had Chester been a knight of Angevin times in quest of his enemy, he might have prayed and kept vigil. But he prepared the boat is as practical and unhurried a manner as if he were setting out on an expedition in search of the wary wild fowl which haunt the lonely island marshes, and the weapon he chose was an old friend; a heavy bored duck gun, which he had laid upon the boat's floor, taking with him merely half a dozen spare cartridges. He had the feeling of a hunted animal which catches its pursuer at an unguarded moment and at a disadvantage.

Chester pulled steadily and silently. He could see the low line of the island before him, with its gravel beach and a faint blurr of trees to the left, on the south side. Thereabouts was the regular landing place, some hundreds of yards away. But he turned in the other direction and pulled northwards, to the right.

Here the island ran out in long marshy pits, and was protected by wide flats of ooze so soft and treacherous that they will bear nothing heavier than a heron or a seagull, and are a deathtrap to the man who ventures upon them. When the tide is up they are covered by a film of water so shallow that even a row boat can hardly reach the shore. Chester pulled in till the dory grounded, and lay down to watch.

Yonder was the bungalow, a small oblong shadow looming on the edge of the shore, far across the bare flats. If to be isolated and inaccessible was Masterton's aim, he had chosen his retreat cleverly. There was a faint gleam of light, scarcely the suggestion of a glimmer.

The light removed Chester's last doubt. If Masterton were still on the island, here he would be found. Would he be alone? It was as practically a certainty, since the little shooting box held sleeping quarters only for one.

Chester focussed his night glasses and made out, upon the roof, two projections that at first puzzled him. They were the supports for "wireless" aerials. Either Masterton, or more probably the earlier owner of the house, had evidently set up an installation to cheer his evenings after the lonely hours spent in search of sport on the flats. Chester lowered his glasses, and a touch of sardonic amusement moved him. If Masterton were listening in to the Ritz orchestra tonight, it was likely to be his requiem.

A SPLENDID NORTHWEST MISSOURI FARM

Together with all personal property and equipment will be sold

AT AUCTION

Sale to be held on the farm four miles north of

Maysville, DeKalb County, Missouri

Thursday, February 10

THE PERSONAL PROPERTY

The personal property in this sale consists of all the live stock and equipment of a big farm. There will be every sort of farming machinery together with horses, cattle, hogs and numerous other things that space will not permit us to mention. It is a big sale, however, and we want all to come and be on hand by 11 o'clock when the sale starts.

THE FARM LAND

The land consists of 392 acres of as good land as there is in Northwest Missouri. This is the Hensel homestead and it has been well kept by good farmers. This land will be divided to suit buyers. The seller does not need the money, and liberal terms can be arranged. The improvements are good. Three houses on this land and three big barns and other suitable outbuildings.

Between fifty and one hundred cattle in this sale; 35 good feeding steers. A car of fat cattle if not sold before sale. Between two and three thousand bushels of extra good corn—mostly good for seed.

USUAL SALE TERMS on personal property. The land sale terms are 15 per cent sale day. Remainder to be arranged. Possession March 15, or lands can be well rented for this year. Sale starts at 11 o'clock. Lunch at noon by the Ladies Aid. For any other information, ask the owner or the sales agents. Write or call

The Deacon's Apology

Dear friends and brother readers,
I hate to take the room
In your city's daily paper,
To correct a "nom de plume."

I'll just take up a line or two,
To fix this Tebow's handle,
Compared to some the "plumes" I've had
It couldn't hold a candle.

I'm sorry, "Uncle Jerry,"
Of making that mistake;
But you know in writing poetry,
We have our rhyme's to make.

I took the first short nickname
That entered in my mind
And used it for your title
But meant no harm, you'll find.

As for "Batlets" in your belfry,
Or your brain containing dirt,
We must not forget that adage—
"It is the truth that hurts."

You spoke of my advantage,
There's some mistake, I'm sure;
For you are quite my senior—
Some thirty years or more.

You speak as if you know me not?
However, you surmise,
You wouldn't like to match your talent
Against mine, for a prize.

If your lines contained some moral,
Instead of "worthless chatter,"
Competing for a little prize—
Would be a different matter.

However, I'm no poet,
But I'll meet you any time;
If we could write our poetry
Along a different line.

We could leave it to our readers—
I'm sure that they'd be fair;
Just kindly give me notice
When my poem should be there.

"Jerry," if you'll permit me,
The privilege which I take,
I'll ask your humble pardon
For publishing you as "Jake."
THE "DEACON."

What Jerry Says

Now let us flighty dreamers
Get down to copper tacks,
And talk about the things we know
To be hard solid facts.

A friend of mine just told me
(Who has a way to know),
That over in the court house,
Where chattel mortgages go—

On every three cars out of four,
Parked around the square,
In the recorder's office,
You'll find a mortgage there.

You'd better ride old Dobbin,
Sidewise or astraddle,
Than in a car not paid for,
Or on a mortgaged saddle.

If the merchants, the mud daubbers,
Or the farmers know their beans,
They know all those who prosper
Must live within their means.

'Twas Jay Gould, who so wisely said
(And this means me and you),
"You better wear ONE shabby coat,
Then be in debt for TWO."

Now such a thing as taxes,
Sh- - - don't you mention it,
Or my good friend, O'Flannigan,
Will throw an awful fit.

Just let the courthouse rot away,
Why should Jerry care,
For when it comes to taxes,
He only pays his share.

We all know that the farmer
Is a very busy man;
Some have to be, because they buy
Their victuals in a can.

He buys his canned tomatoes,
His corn and sauer kraut,
And a lot of other canned stuff
He'd be better off without.

He ships his hogs to market,
And after many days
He buys it back as bacon,
And pays the freight both ways.

In glittering generalities,
He tells of Wall street's dough,
How they get O'Flannigan's
Is what I'd like to know.

If he was half as careful
Of his gas bills and repairs,
As he is about his taxes
Wall street would work for theirs.

I'm glad all farmers are not fools,
Like O'Flannigan and I,
Lots of them keep their dough nuts,
And eat good pumpkin pie.

In short, cut down your overhead,
And put some dough away,
And be a bloated octopus,
Like Jerry is, some day.

British Airways Set a Passenger Record

London, Jan. 27.—Nearly 17,000 passengers, or an average of over forty-six a day, flew between London and the continent on Imperial Airways liners during 1926, setting a new record. This is the government subsidized British service, and the figures do not include passengers carried by French Dutch and German lines.

During the entire year there were no mishaps involving injury to passengers or crew in the Imperial Airways servce. One liner had a forced landing in the channel, but all aboard were rescued by a fishing boat without suffering serious effects.

West Point cadets can smoke openly now. Their girl friends often were inconvenienced when the boys had no fags between dances.

NOTICE

All Club and society members holding white Electric Theater tickets which were to be sold on percentage basis, must use them by January 31. White tickets will not be accepted after that date.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Jan. 27.—Influenced by disappointing action abroad, grain futures on the Chicago board of trade started with scattered selling and lower prices but the dip brought on good buying and prices at the close were but fractionally lower than the previous close. The cash market was unchanged. Receipts were 23 cars.

Corn was strong at the start. Receipts were 273 cars. The cash market was steady to ½ cent higher.

Oats were firmer but offerings were ample on the advance, and prices remained about unchanged from yesterday. Receipts were 378 cars. The cash market was unchanged.

Provisions closed lower.

PAN-A-CE-A
puts hens in laying trim

Put your hen in laying trim
—then you have a laying hen

YOU WANT music in your poultry yard—song, scratch, cackle.

You want an industrious hen—a hen that will get off her roost winter mornings, ready to scratch for her breakfast.

A fat, lazy hen may be all right for pot-pie, but for egg-laying—never!

Add Dr. Hess Poultry Pan-a-ce-a to the ration daily, and see the change come over your flock.

See the combs and wattles turn red.

See them begin to cheer up and hop around. See the claws begin to dig in.

That's when you get eggs.

Costs Little to Use Pan-a-ce-a

The price of just one egg pays for all the Pan-a-ce-a a hen will eat in six months.

There's a right-size package for every flock.

60 hens the 5-lb. pkg.
200 hens the 25-lb. pail
500 hens the 100-lb. drum

GOOD TOURNEY FOR PARNELL

COMPETITION TO BE KEEN IN GIRLS' EVENT.

RAVENWOOD FAVORITE

Grant City, However, to Enter Strong Team.—Worth Boys Against Parnell Boys.

Arrangements have been completed for the girls' tournament to be held at Parnell Saturday and indications point to an excellent tournament, Harry Nelson, superintendent of schools, says.

The Barnard team, which was entered, withdrew on account of sickness of several of its players and have cancelled the rest of the games on its schedule. In its place, Worth will be represented. The Worth boys will also substitute in place of the Barnard boys in the preliminary game to the championship game.

On paper Ravenwood and Grant City look the stronger. The Nodaway County champions fell before Grant City by a single point two weeks ago. Grant City has succeeded in downing Worth twice by small scores and last Friday smothered Parnell 26-8. The Parnell representatives were not going right at the Worth County metropolis, and, playing at home, are bound to make a better showing.

The boys game should be a real attraction. Both schools are reported to have the best boys teams in the history of the schools. The Worth boys represented that county at the last tournament held at Maryville. The Parnell boys have won nine of eleven games played this year. These teams have not met yet this season. Last year they divided a pair of games.

Raymond ("Red") Houston of Pickering will referee. A cup will be awarded the winner. The drawings will take place at 1 o'clock Saturday, and the first preliminary game will get under way at 2 o'clock.

The Parnell town team will play the Blockton (Ia.) team at Parnell tonight. The Parnell boys have been going good this season and have won five consecutive games. The Hunt Grocers of St. Joseph, who were scheduled to play in Parnell Saturday, failed to appear.

The Parnell boys have been having trouble in finding teams this year and are eager to book games for the remainder of the season. Parnell returns the game to Blockton Monday, January 31.

EIGHT TEAMS TO COMPETE AT HOPKINS

Conway, Ia., to Send Girls' Team—Sam Dubin of Bedford, Ia., to Officiate.

(By Special Correspondent).

Hopkins, Jan. 27.—Two championships are to be decided here Saturday at the fifth annual boys' and girls' basketball tournament. Eight teams have entered, four boys' and four girls'.

The boys' teams participating are Burlington Junction, Pickering, Elmo and Hopkins. The girls' teams that will fight for championship honors, Conway, Ia., Elmo, Burlington Junction and Hopkins.

Of the Nodaway teams the Burlington Junction boys and Elmo girls are conceded by many to have "chances at the titles."

Concerning the Iowa aggregation, reports have reached here that the Conway girls are fast and shifty, with unlimited endurance.

However, there is the Pickering quintet to be reckoned with when the boys' tourney is considered, and Pickering will have a large delegation here to urge the county champions to another championship.

Sam Dubin, of Bedford, Ia., will officiate. He works a game not only as a referee, but he adds to the enjoyment of the spectators by his unique style.

The first of the four afternoon games will begin at 1:15 o'clock and the first of the finals at 7:45 p. m.

Results of the preliminary games will be given in the Saturday issue of the Democrat-Forum and Tribune.

DeMolays Scrimmage Against Spoofhounds

M. H. S. Team In Good Condition For Tonight.—Preliminary Between DeMolays And "Dorm Bunch."

Scrimmages against the DeMolay Team this week have put the Spoofhounds on edge for the Pickering game, which starts at 8 o'clock tonight at the High School gymnasium.

Paul Burks will whistle for the two Nodaway County teams, always friendly enemies, to come to the center of the maple floor to engage in a "mock" championship struggle.

A preliminary game has been arranged for 7 o'clock this evening between the DeMolay team and "The Dorm Bunch," an aggregation composed of College players.

Members of the DeMolay team are Ogden, Chick, Ellis, O'Banion, Willoughby and Fisher.

Ted Search will be the eleventh man on the floor in this game.

The personnel of the Dorm Team: Ollie and Leo Cox, Holler, Mullenax, Shelby and Hathaway.

Miller Bunch Wins Over Gravity Five

The Miller Bunch of Hopkins last night added another win to their string of victories this year when they defeated the Gravity, Ia., town basketball team, 41 to 24.

West, a teacher, was the outstanding star of the Gravity team.

The game was fast and clean. Only one foul was called on the Hopkins independent team and four fouls called on the Iowans. Officer was referee.

The Miller Bunch will play the Clearmont town team at Clearmont tomorrow night.

Federal Highway to Pass Through Fulton

Fulton, Mo., Jan. 27.—Fulton business men who met here recently with state highway officials are holding but little doubt that Route No. 15 to be known as Federal Highway No. 54, will pass directly through this city. The main business street, however, probably will not be designated, it was indicated by Hugh Stephens, a member of the highway commission, because of the amount of traffic there.

The official routing of the road will be announced later.

New Bank Teller Begins Work.

Henry G. Blanchard of Des Moines, who recently was graduated from the school of commerce and finance at Drake University, in that city, has accepted a position as teller in the Nodaway Valley Bank. Mr. Blanchard was connected with the bank last summer as teller and was given a leave of absence to finish his course at Drake. He arrived yesterday to assume his duties.

Chilton Robinson on Trip.

Chilton Robinson left last night on a two weeks trip to St. Louis, Indianapolis, Chicago and Milwaukee where he will visit with friends and relatives.
